

Aims:

1. Promote awareness of the importance of soil management.
2. Collate existing research results and practical knowledge of the management of irrigated cracking clays.
3. Provide, in consultation with users, a decision-support system for soil management suitable for use at the workplace.
4. Provide a framework for identifying research needs and for co-ordinating future research efforts.